

Toadstool Music

Toadstool music run a web site offering music files (MP3) for download. At present they are trialling their site and only offer 5 tracks from each of 5 albums.

At present the album names and track titles are 'hard-coded' into the HTML script and this is quite fiddly for Toadstool to update.

Your task is to set up a MySQL database to store the album titles and song titles. The web page is to load this information from the database. A section for the customer to enter their details also needs to be included on the web page. The details necessary would include name, email address and credit card number.
